Protection Mechanism

There are three ways the Crown purchases surplus Crown land to protect it for possible use in future Treaty of Waitangi settlements. These are:

Crown Settlement Portfolio (CSP)

The CSP holds all surplus Crown properties within confiscation (raupatu) boundaries. “Confiscation boundaries” refers to areas of land confiscated under the New Zealand Settlements Act 1863.

Claim-specific landbanks

These hold land for a specific claimant group which falls within their claim boundary. The claimant group chooses which properties they wish to include in the landbank up to the value of the landbank cap.

Regional landbanks

Regional landbanks hold land outside CSP and claim-specific areas. This enables the Crown to protect land where a claim-specific landbank has not been established, and the land falls outside the CSP.
