The Treasury

Budget 2016 Information Release

Release Document July 2016

www.treasury.govt.nz/publications/informationreleases/budget/2016

Key to sections of the Official Information Act 1982 under which information has been withheld.

Certain information in this document has been withheld under one or more of the following sections of the Official Information Act, as applicable:

to prevent prejudice to the security or defence of New Zealand or the international relations of the government to prevent prejudice to the maintenance of the law, including the prevention, investigation, and detection of offences, and the right to a fair trial to damage seriously the economy of New Zealand by disclosing prematurely decisions to change or continue government economic or financial policies relating to the entering into of overseas trade agreements. [23] to protect the privacy of natural persons, including deceased people 9(2)(a) to protect the commercial position of the person who supplied the information or who is the subject of the information to prevent prejudice to the supply of similar information, or information from the same source, and it is in the public interest that such information should continue to be supplied to provide under the authority of any person has been or could be compelled to provide under the authority of any enactment, where the making available of the information - would be likely otherwise to damage the public interest [29] to avoid prejudice to the substantial economic interests of New Zealand 9(2)(d) [31] to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting collective and individual ministerial responsibility of advice tendered by ministers and officials [34] to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions [36] to maintain legal professional privilege [37] to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [40] Not in scope investigation, and detection of offences, and the right to a fair trial to damage seriously the economy of New Zealand by disclosing prematurely decisions to change or continue government economic or financial policies relating to the entering into of overseas trade agreements. [23] to protect the privacy of natural persons, including deceased people 9(2)(a) [25] to protect the commercial position of the person who supplied the information or who is the subject of the information or who is the subject of the information or who is the subject of the supply of similar information, or information from the same source, and it is in the public interest that such information should continue to be supplied [27] to protect information which is subject to an obligation of confidence or which any person has been or could be compelled to provide under the authority of any enactment, where the making available of the information - would be likely otherwise to damage the public interest [28] to avoid prejudice to the substantial economic interests of New Zealand 9(2)(ba)(ii) [31] to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting collective and individual ministerial responsibility of advice tendered by ministers and officials [34] to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting the confidentiality of advice tendered by ministers and officials [36] to maintain legal professional privilege [37] to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [50] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[1]		6(a)
decisions to change or continue government economic or financial policies relating to the entering into of overseas trade agreements. 23 to protect the privacy of natural persons, including deceased people 9(2)(a) 15 to protect the commercial position of the person who supplied the information or who is the subject of the information to prevent prejudice to the supply of similar information, or information from the same source, and it is in the public interest that such information should continue to be supplied to protect information which is subject to an obligation of confidence or which any person has been or could be compelled to provide under the authority of any enactment, where the making available of the information - would be likely otherwise to damage the public interest to avoid prejudice to the substantial economic interests of New Zealand 9(2)(d) 131 to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting collective and individual ministerial responsibility to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting the confidentiality of advice tendered by ministers and officials 134 to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions 135 to maintain legal professional privilege 136 to maintain legal professional privilege 137 to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice 138 to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice 139 to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage 140 that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[4]		6(c)
to protect the commercial position of the person who supplied the information or who is the subject of the information to prevent prejudice to the supply of similar information, or information from the same source, and it is in the public interest that such information should continue to be supplied to protect information which is subject to an obligation of confidence or which any person has been or could be compelled to provide under the authority of any enactment, where the making available of the information - would be likely otherwise to damage the public interest 29] to avoid prejudice to the substantial economic interests of New Zealand to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting collective and individual ministerial responsibility to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting the confidentiality of advice tendered by ministers and officials to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions to maintain legal professional privilege to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[11]	decisions to change or continue government economic or financial policies	6(e)(vi)
or who is the subject of the information to prevent prejudice to the supply of similar information, or information from the same source, and it is in the public interest that such information should continue to be supplied to protect information which is subject to an obligation of confidence or which any person has been or could be compelled to provide under the authority of any enactment, where the making available of the information - would be likely otherwise to damage the public interest 29] to avoid prejudice to the substantial economic interests of New Zealand to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting collective and individual ministerial responsibility to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting the confidentiality of advice tendered by ministers and officials to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions to maintain legal professional privilege to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice to prejudice to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[23]	to protect the privacy of natural persons, including deceased people	9(2)(a)
same source, and it is in the public interest that such information should continue to be supplied to protect information which is subject to an obligation of confidence or which any person has been or could be compelled to provide under the authority of any enactment, where the making available of the information - would be likely otherwise to damage the public interest to avoid prejudice to the substantial economic interests of New Zealand to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting collective and individual ministerial responsibility of advice tendered by ministers and officials to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting the confidentiality of advice tendered by ministers and officials to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions to maintain legal professional privilege to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[25]	or who is the subject of the information	9(2)(b)(ii)
any person has been or could be compelled to provide under the authority of any enactment, where the making available of the information - would be likely otherwise to damage the public interest 29] to avoid prejudice to the substantial economic interests of New Zealand [31] to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting collective and individual ministerial responsibility [33] to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting the confidentiality of advice tendered by ministers and officials [34] to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions [36] to maintain legal professional privilege [37] to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [518(c)(i)] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[26]	same source, and it is in the public interest that such information should	9(2)(ba)(i)
to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting collective and individual ministerial responsibility [33] to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting the confidentiality of advice tendered by ministers and officials [34] to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions [36] to maintain legal professional privilege [37] to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [39] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[27]	any person has been or could be compelled to provide under the authority of any enactment, where the making available of the information - would be likely individual ministerial responsibility to maintain the current constitutional conventions protecting the confidentiality of advice tendered by ministers and officials [34] to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions [36] to maintain legal professional privilege [37] to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [518(c)(i)] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	29]	to avoid prejudice to the substantial economic interests of New Zealand	9(2)(d)
of advice tendered by ministers and officials [34] to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the free and frank expression of opinions [36] to maintain legal professional privilege [37] to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [39] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[31]	individual ministerial responsibility	9(2)(f)(ii)
expression of opinions [36] to maintain legal professional privilege [37] to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [39] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[33]		9(2)(f)(iv)
to enable the Crown to carry out commercial activities without disadvantages or prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [s18(c)(i)] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[34]		9(2)(g)(i)
prejudice [38] to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice [39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [s18(c)(i)] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[36]	to maintain legal professional privilege	9(2)(h)
[39] to prevent the disclosure of official information for improper gain or improper advantage [s18(c)(i)] that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[37]		9(2)(i)
[s18(c)(i)] advantage sadvantage that the making available of the information requested would be contrary to the provisions of a specified enactment	[38]	to enable the Crown to negotiate without disadvantage or prejudice	9(2)(j)
provisions of a specified enactment	[39]		9(2)(k)
[40] Not in scope	[s18(c)(i)]
	[40]	Not in scope

Where information has been withheld, a numbered reference to the applicable section of the Official Information Act has been made, as listed above. For example, a [23] appearing where information has been withheld in a release document refers to section 9(2)(a).

In preparing this Information Release, the Treasury has considered the public interest considerations in section 9(1) and section 18 of the Official Information Act.

Reference: T2015/2918 DH-42-0

1

Date: 8 December 2015

To: Minister of Finance (Hon Bill English)

Deadline: 9 December 2015

(if any)

Ministry of Justice Budget 16 Cost Pressure Initiatives

You are meeting with the Minister of Justice at 9:30am on Thursday 10 December 2015 to discuss Ministry of Justice (Ministry) cost pressures. This aide memoire provides information on:

- The Ministry's cost pressures and cost pressure budget initiatives
- Work by the Ministry towards achieving fiscal sustainability, and
- Possible talking points for the meeting.

Cost pressures and cost pressure initiatives

In its cost pressures template, submitted on 30 October, the Ministry identified the following cost pressures across Votes Justice, Courts and Treaty Negotiations:

[33, 38]

On 4 December the Minister of Justice submitted cost pressure and new policy initiatives for Budget 16. The cost pressure initiatives can be roughly categorised as follows:

	$ million*, GST exclusive
Cost Pressure Initiatives	2016/17	2017/18	2018/19	2019/20
Legal Aid and Public Defence Service (Volume, [38] Court Mandated Programmes (Volume)	[38]	1	ı	_
Christchurch Justice and Emergency Services Precinct (Policy)	25.4	28.2	-	-
2017 Election Costs (Volume)	[38]	I	-	-

[33]	[33]	•	•	_
Other (Volume, Policy)
Total Cost Pressure Initiatives

^{*}Figures may not add due to rounding (nearest $0.1 million)

Previous Funding

The Ministry committed in 2012 to living within baselines until 2020, and achieved this up to Budget 15. During this time the Ministry was able to draw on the Justice Sector Fund (JSF) for time-limited funding of cost pressures and new initiatives. Following a review of the JSF earlier this year, the JSF can no longer be used for cost pressures. The Ministry now needs to seek additional funding at Budget for any cost pressures that cannot be managed within baselines.

At Budget 15 the Ministry received $10 million per year in new funding. In 2015/16 the funding went towards various initiatives, including invest to save options through the Investing in Justice (IIJ) programme. In 2016/17 the majority of the funding ($8 million) will go towards funding legal aid cost pressures.

What is the Ministry of Justice doing to deal with ongoing cost pressures?

The Ministry of Justice has undergone a significant spending review in the form of IIJ. Treasury sits on the governance group for IIJ, together with other Central Agency and Justice Sector agency representatives. This expenditure review was conducted by KPMG and covered 55% of the Ministry's operational spend. Following on from IIJ the Ministry has plans to realise $85.6 million in savings over the next four years to help address cost pressures.

These savings are mostly in departmental spending and will make a contribution to meeting the Ministry's departmental cost pressures. However non-departmental appropriations, particularly legal aid, are experiencing demand-driven cost pressures. Our conversations with the Ministry indicate that these are beyond what the Ministry can solve through efficiency savings.

[33]

Suggested talking points

- How is Investing in Justice helping the Ministry to manage its cost pressures?
- What progress has the Ministry made on improving efficiency in court processes, including consideration of the property footprint?
- What opportunities has the Ministry identified for savings beyond Investing in Justice?

[34] Analyst, Justice & Security, [34] Gwen Rashbrooke, Acting Manager, Justice & Security, 04 917 6239

Appendix 1

The Minister of Justice's Budget Initiatives

$ million*, GST exclusive	2016/17	2017/18	2018/19	2019/20
Cost Pressure Initiatives
Legal Aid Non Departmental Expenditure	16.8	10.8	13.7	13.2
Shortfall
Christchurch Justice and Emergency Services	25.4	28.2	-	-
Precinct – Shortfall funding
Funding to deliver the 2017 Election	[33]	•	-
[33]
Community Law Centres – stabilise funding at	0.5	1.3	1.2	1.2
existing level	0.0	1.0	1
Domestic Violence Programmes funding	[33]
shortfall		1	1
Investing in the Public Defence Service	2.8	[33]
Operating Associated with Investing in Justice	7.4	4.4	2.1	0.4
Restorative Justice Shortfall	4.0	4.0	4.0	4.0
[33]		·	·
Independent Police Conduct Authority	0.7	0.7	0.7	0.7
Total Cost Pressure Initiatives		0.1	0.7	0.1
	[33]
New Policy Initiatives	1
Changing civil legal aid policy settings to increase eligibility	1.9	3.8	5.8	5.8
[33]
	 	i	i	-
Dunedin Court Services	[33]			-
Total New Policy Initiatives
Total Budget Initiatives
*Figures may not add due to rounding (pageout CO 1 million

^{*}Figures may not add due to rounding (nearest $0.1 million)