Aide Memoire: Material to support the second Economic Development workstream meeting

The purpose of this aide memoire is to support the Economic Development workstream meeting on Tuesday 20 March at 4:00pm. This meeting will be chaired by the Associate Minister of Finance, Hon Dr David Clark.

Attached to this note is the current Economic Development workstream package to assist you in the discussion at the meeting (Annex One).

Purpose of the meeting

The purpose of the meeting is to consult with Economic Development workstream Ministers on the Economic Development Budget package considered at the second Budget Ministers meeting on the evening of Monday 19 March.

This workstream meeting is an opportunity to ensure that Economic Development workstream Ministers are comfortable with the proposed package before the Budget package is finalised at the third Budget Ministers meeting on Monday 26 March.

Given the tight timeframes of Budget 2018, you should use this opportunity to raise any concerns you may have about the current package, ahead of final decisions being made on Monday 26 March.

The current package for Budget 2018

In order to develop the package, the Treasury has incorporated your priorities that were identified at the first workstream meetings in February and early March, alongside cost pressure initiatives that have high risks associated with not funding, and new initiatives that align with Government priorities and are investment ready for 2018/19.

Key trade-offs have been required across all workstreams in order to fit within the operating and capital allowances, and not all initiatives have been included in the package, even if they were identified as a Minister priority or supported at the Treasury Vote team stage of the process.

The current package has the following profile:

Operating and capital packages $millions	Total operating funding per annum	Total capital funding
Social Wellbeing	1898	209
Infrastructure	112	1598
Natural Resources	73	189
Economic Development	665	661
Other	123	84
Savings	-195	-
Reprioritisation	-120	-3
Pre-commitments	67	902
Between Budget Contingency	50	-
Total	2673	3640

As outlined above, the Economic Development workstream currently makes up $665 million per annum of the $2.67 billion operating package and $661 million of the $3.6 billion capital package. In addition to the above initiatives, the total pre-commitments for the Economic Development workstream total $200 million operating funding and $89 million of capital funding. Both the operating and capital packages are slightly higher than the allowances signalled in the Budget Policy Statement, which reflects the significant cost pressures and the difficult trade-offs that the Government is faced with in this Budget.

The main initiatives driving the Economic Development package are:

• The Provincial Growth Fund, with Year One funding of $1 billion in total. This is made up of $402 million operating (an average of $102 million per annum) and a total of $189 million capital. The remaining funding is from repurposed funding, and pre-commitments against Budget 2018. This is outlined in detail at the bottom of Annex One.

- The Research and Development Tax Credit, with a four year total of $1.024 billion operating funding ($256 million operating per annum).
- Tamaki Redevelopment Company's capital injection, with a total of [33] million capital
- Official Development Assistance, with a four year total of $589 million operating funding ($147 million operating per annum).

If a portfolio Minister disagrees with the proposed Economic Development workstream package, the workstream Ministers will be asked to make trade-offs from other initiatives to meet the change.

Next steps

These proposals will be considered by Budget Ministers on Monday 26 March, when final decisions are taken on the Budget 2018 package. Any outstanding matters will be considered at a final Budget Ministers meeting on Tuesday 3 April.

Following this, a Cabinet paper will be prepared to agree to the final Budget 2018 package at Cabinet on 9 April.
